I had the opportunity to attend a WCT training, here in Pittsburgh, hosted by Certified Trainer, Clem Gigliotti on October 18, 2008. I came to the training with a passing knowledge of our Web Center program and was anxious to learn more and I was not disappointed. Clem is very knowledgeable on the Web Center program and more importantly was able to pass on his expertise in an engaging, factual and practical manner; weaving examples and stories from his own experience; and reminding us throughout of the Market America business model. I came away after a 'short' eight hour class, better versed in the program and better armed to go out and sell websites. Clem is very approachable and interested in the success of the Web Center program and we are fortunate to have this resource here in Pittsburgh. I would highly recommend Clem's training to anyone interested in majoring in Web Center or just to get the taste and feel of the program. I look forward to the next training.
